REPORT:

The practice of generic medicines prescribing, dispensing, and substitution in developing countries has been controversial among doctors, particularly due to issues on quality, safety, and efficacy. These controversies are as a result of country to country differences in drug policies and laws as well as individualized knowledge and attitudes of healthcare professionals related to generic medicines. Moreover, generic medicines in the past have been criticized for being substandard mainly due to poor adherence with good manufacturing practice guidelines.

With this regard Youth Red Cross Unit of Gadag District in collaboration with our college created awareness of generic medicines. Our students performed skit in the public area to create the awareness followed by the rally with placards’.
